Why in news?

\n\n

The draft pharma policy was recently released by the Department of Pharmaceuticals (DOP).

\n\n

What are the highlights of draft pharmaceutical policy?

\n\n

\n

- The new pharmaceutical policy proposes to balance the need for price control over medicines.
  - \n
- Union government will gain a greater role in deciding prices of medicines and medical devices.
  - \n
- Pricing authority will regulate only medicines that are specified by the government in the National List of Essential Medicines.
- The price caps being imposed on patented medicines are reduced.  $\space{\space{1.5}n}$
- Policy allows pharmaceutical manufacturers to sell their medicines under only under generic names and not under differently-priced brands.  $\n$
- Manufacturing of drugs under WHO standards is made mandatory.  $\space{\space{1.5}n}$
- The policy seeks to bring down the unreasonable trade margins offered by various stockists to hospitals.  $\gamman \ensuremath{\sc n}$

\n\n

What are the issues with the policy?

\n\n

\n

• The policy fails to lay controls over the chemists, this may facilitates the sale of fake drugs.

\n

- The policy doesn't have any mechanisms to boost production standards.  $\space{\space{1.5}n}$
- Instead of an appellate authority, it seeks to give bureaucrats more powers on drug controls.
- Direct price control Government takes role of fixing the drug price.  $\space{\space{1.5}n}$
- This will affects the quality, innovation, and hurts patients as much as it does companies.

\n

- It opens the door to lobbying and rent-seeking with all the attendant dangers for competition and for corruption.  $\gamman$

\n\n

What measures can be taken?

\n\n

∖n

• It will be better if price monitoring focuses on essential drugs, there are about 200.

\n

- Strict price control measures needs to be avoided and market friendly pricing should be followed.  $\gamma_n$
- Domestic production of import drugs should be promoted, with better quality and affordability.

\n

- The government should also consider specific steps against overcharging of prices by the industries.  $\gamman \ensuremath{\sc n}$
