

Easing Listing norms - SEBI

Why in news?

 $n\n$

The SEBI-appointed committee to examine the listing requirements for Indian and foreign companies in various stock exchanges has submitted its report recently.

 $n\n$

What are the recommendations?

 $n\n$

\n

• Indian companies can be allowed to list on overseas exchanges without a requirement to also list in the domestic markets.

\n

• Companies that are domiciled abroad can be in turn permitted to list on Indian stock exchanges.

۱n

• The committee has laid down the legislative changes required in the FEMA, Companies Act, SEBI's investor protection rules and tax laws to pave the way for this change.

\n

• To avoid round-tripping, funds from overseas exchanges will only be allowed to and from permissible jurisdictions with strong anti-money laundering laws.

\n

 Also, only 'high-quality' companies with a minimum Rs. 1,000 crore issue size may be permitted through this route.

What are the advantages?

 $n\n$

\n

• For Indian companies - The ability to list on foreign exchanges will expand the choices available to Indian companies as to where and how to list their shares efficiently.

\n

 \bullet In particular, it will allow them to access funds at a significantly lower rate than they otherwise might have.

\n

- Indian companies can tap under-utilised funds in other jurisdictions, command higher valuations and sharply lower their costs of capital.
- This is because, some large institutional investors are not permitted by their governing regulations to invest in companies listed outside their home economies.

\n

• It will increase competition for Indian stock exchanges and thereby render them more efficient.

\n

- \bullet Deeper equity markets would also allow more accurate price discovery, thereby ensuring that companies are better valued. $\mbox{\sc h}$
- For foreign companies Many companies that operate in India are currently domiciled in foreign jurisdictions.

۱n

By being listed on Indian stock exchanges, they could benefit from the pool of investors and funds that are best informed about their operations and their operating environment.

۱'n

• It would also allow for the creation of a globalised financial services industry that could create the capacity to analyse and trade in companies from all over the world.

۱n

• Thus the idea of direct cross- border listing is in keeping with the spirit of liberalisation and enhances ease of doing business.

 $n\n$

What are the concerns?

 $n\n$

\n

• With over 5,000 listed stocks, state-of-the-art trading platforms and a globally well-regarded regulator, India's stock market is certainly far from nascent.

۱n

• However, only one foreign company has chosen to list in India through the Indian Depository Receipts route in over a decade.

\n

- This is mainly because of regulatory arbitrage and a high compliance burden in Indian stock markets that are leading to such skewed preferences.
- Thus, Indian regulators need to first fix this before liberalising rules for direct foreign listing.

Quick Facts

 $n\n$

Depository Receipts(DR)

 $n\n$

\n

- A DR is a type of negotiable (transferable) financial security traded on a local stock exchange but represents a security, usually in the form of equity, issued by a foreign, publicly-listed company.
- The DR, which is a physical certificate, allows investors to hold shares in equity of other countries.
- \bullet DRs are created when a foreign company wishes to list its securities on another country's stock exchange and tap those local funds. \n
- Global Depository Receipts(GDR) and American Depository Receipts(ADR) are amongst the most common DRs.
- IDRs are transferable securities to be listed on Indian stock exchanges, against the underlying equity shares of the issuing company which is incorporated outside India.
- Typically, companies with significant business in India, or an India focus, may find the IDR route advantageous.
- \bullet Similarly, the foreign entities of Indian companies may find it easier to raise money through IDRs for their business requirements abroad. \n
