

Election to the Office of Vice President of India

Prelims - Current Events of National and International Importance | Indian Polity & Governance.

Why in News?

Recently, the resignation of Vice-President Jagdeep Dhankhar, the Election Commission of India will have to announce the election to fill the position.

The election of the next Vice-President is to be held within 60 days of the expiry of the outgoing Vice-President's term.

- Vice-President Second highest office, next to the President in the official warrant of precedence.
- Office Modelled in the lines of the American Vice-President.
- Source of power Article 66(1) of Indian constitution.
- Mode of election Indirect election held in accordance with the system of proportional representation by means of the single transferable vote and the voting is by secret ballot.
- Elected by Electoral college consist of both elected and nominated members of the Parliament.
- Vote of choice Members of the Electoral College can vote according to their choice and are not bound by any party whip.
- Winning percentage 50% of the valid votes + 1.
- Oualifications
 - o Citizen of India.
 - Completed 35 years of age.
 - Qualified for election as a member of the Rajya Sabha.
 - Not hold any office of profit under any government.
- Nomination of a candidate
- Supported by at least 20 electors as proposers and 20 electors as seconders as presented to the Returning officer.
 - Security deposit of Rs.15,000 in the Reserve Bank of India.

Condition of office

- \circ He should not be a member of either House of Parliament or a House of the state legislature.
- If such a person is elected as Vice-President, he should vacate his seat in that House on the date on which he enters the office as Vice-President.

• Term of Office

- 5 years from the date on which he enters upon his office.
- Hold office beyond his term of five years until his successor assumes charge.
- Eligible for re-election for any number of terms.

Vacancy in Office

- On the expiry of his tenure of five years.
- By his resignation.
- On his removal.
- By his death.
- Becomes disqualified to hold office or when his election is declared void.
- Constitution does not provide any method of succession apart from a fresh election.
- In such an event, the Deputy Chairman can head the Rajya Sabha proceedings.

• Election dispute

- All doubts and disputes regarding the election of the Vice-President are inquired into and decided by the Supreme Court, whose decision is final.
- The election cannot be challenged on the ground that the electoral college was incomplete (i.e., the existence of any vacancy among the members of the electoral college).
- If the election is declared void by the Supreme Court, acts done by him before such declaration are not invalidated (i.e., they continue to remain in force).

Reference

The Hindul Election to the Office of Vice President of India

