

Global Listing of Indian Companies - SEBI

Why in news?

\n\n

The Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) has constituted an expert committee, which is considering allowing India-incorporated companies to list on foreign stock markets.

\n\n

What is the need?

\n\n

\n

- For corporations with investment plans, raising finance locally had been hard in recent years.

\n

- Access to bank finance has become difficult as a result of Indian banks' huge bad debt.

\n

- The weakening rupee has made foreign borrowing a risky proposition.

\n

- Also, India's corporate bond market still lacks some potential.

\n

\n\n

What are the benefits?

\n\n

\n

- Overseas listing offers access to a wider, global pool of relatively cheap risk capital.

\n

- This avenue was open to Indian companies via the American Depository Receipts (ADRs), Global Depository Receipts (GDRs).

\n

- But the modus operandi is complicated in these modes.

\n

- Companies had to set up holding companies or special purpose vehicles and intermediaries (depository participants) to avail these.

\n

- This makes it unworkable for mid-size and smaller companies in terms of time and cost.

\n

- Further, most reputed bourses have stringent norms of disclosure and transparency.

\n

- Direct listing in these would raise the standards for Indian companies.

\n

- As companies still lack global best practices, despite reforms in accountancy standards recently.

\n

- The gains for Indian shareholders too can be significant.

\n

\n\n

What are the challenges?

\n\n

\n

- SEBI has to synchronise its regulatory architecture with the leading global bourses.

\n

\n\n

\n

- The treatment of such inflows of foreign funds is another issue.

\n

- This gains significance both with monetary policy imperatives as well as economic policy.

\n

- This is especially true in sectors with foreign direct investment restrictions.

\n

- Taxation issues will be another complex issue to handle in this regard.

\n

- All of these suggest that direct listing will not be an innovation that SEBI will materialise any time soon.

\n

- However, there are significant gains to be garnered for both sets of players in such overseas listings norms.
