

Judiciary

The stability of a nation largely depends on the citizens' absolute faith in the judiciary. In this context, is it a right way for the judges to dissent publicly to address an internal rift?

 $n$

Refer - The Hindu

n n

Enrich the answer from other sources, if the question demands.

\n

