

Muslim Women (Protection of Rights on Marriage) Bill, 2017

What is the issue?

 $n\n$

\n

• Lok Sabha has passed the Muslim Women (Protection of Rights on Marriage) Bill, 2017.

\n

• The Bill is abound with a number of internal contradictions raising questions on the very purpose and intent.

\n

 $n\n$

\n

Every punishment which does not arise from absolute necessity is tyrannical.

What are the highlight provisions?

 $n\n$

\n

• Definition- The Bill defines talaq as talaq-e-biddat (instant triple talaq) or any other similar form of talaq pronounced by a Muslim man resulting in instant and irrevocable divorce.

\n

• It makes all forms of declaration of talaq to be void i.e. not enforceable in law.

\n

• Offence and penalty - The Bill makes declaration of talaq a cognizable and non-bailable offence.

\n

• A husband declaring talaq can be imprisoned for up to 3 years along with a fine.

\n

• Allowance - A Muslim woman against whom talaq has been declared is entitled to seek subsistence allowance from her husband.

\n

- This applies to the woman and her dependent children.
- ullet The amount of the allowance will be decided by the Magistrate.
- Custody A Muslim woman against whom such talaq has been declared, is entitled to seek custody of her minor children.
- The determination of custody will be made by the Magistrate.

What are the anomalies?

 $n\n$

\n

- SC judgement The Supreme Court, earlier, invalidated the triple talaq practice by calling it arbitrary and unconstitutional.
- Logically, the pronouncement of talaq-e-biddat does not dissolve the marriage, and this is the law of the land under Article 141.
- Contradictorily, the Bill presumes that the "pronouncement" of talaq can instantaneously and irrevocably dissolve the marriage.
- $\bullet$  The bill thus seems to be misreading the SC's judgment on talaq.
- Offence After rendering talaq-e-biddat inoperative, considering it a cognisable and non-bailable offence seems illogical.
- It raises questions on the validity of the law that criminalises an act after conceding that it does not result in a crime.
- Post-divorce issues Making provisions on post-divorce matters like subsistence allowance and the custody, when the pronouncement (instant talaq) itself does not dissolve the marriage appear baseless.

Why is this a case of over-criminalisation?

 $n\n$

\n

• Necessity - Criminal law is not necessarily a choice but a necessity.

• It should be used only as a "last resort" and only for the "most reprehensible wrongs".

\n

 $\bullet$  Excessive use of criminal law for purposes it is ill-suited to tackle is the harsh reality of a modern state.  $\mbox{\sc harsh}$

• Morality - The realm of private morality and immorality falls more within the individual and social sphere.

• Regulating it should largely come from the deliberations of the society and, making it the law's business may not bring in the desired effect.

• In this context, criminalising triple talaq would hardly help in building the moral commitments of Muslim husbands.
