

Need for a Defence Procurement Regulator

What is the issue?

\n\n

\n

- A Parliamentary standing committee report has highlighted contradiction between actual defence procurements and budget estimates.

\n

- To resolve such claims union Budget 2018 is expected to announce a regulatory body for defence procurement.

\n

\n\n

How are defence procurements made in India?

\n\n

\n

- Defence spending is classified under Non-plan expenditure.

\n

- The respective funds will be allocated by the finance ministry through budget estimates.

\n

- Allocated funds will be utilized by

\n

\n\n

\n

- i. Defence Research & Development Organisation (DRDO)

\n

- ii. Ordnance factory board (OFB)

\n

- iii. individual tri-defence forces under ministry of defence

\n

\n\n

\n

- Defence procurements are typically conducted through a competitive two stage bidding process.

\n

- It happens as per the guidelines contained in the Defence Procurement Procedure of India (DPP).
- Apart from this, defence procurement can also be made through inter-governmental agreements between friendly countries.

\n\n

What are the concerns?

\n\n

- The report highlights inadequate budget allocations made by the Ministry of Finance (MoF).
- There are perpetual delays in capital acquisitions.
- Also, there is constant miscommunication between the Ministry of Defence (MoD) and the Ministry of Finance (MoF).
- Persistent failure of the defence ministry to utilise the allocated funds has also contributed to reduction in budget allocations.
- Armed forces are sadly under-equipped and procurement planning is grossly inadequate.
- It is concluded that India is not combat ready.

\n\n

How could a regulator help?

\n\n

- The shortfalls can be resolved better by an independent regulator for defence acquisitions.
- Implementation of the procurement policy can better be overseen.
- The regulator could check whether the policies are in line with the current and future requirements of the armed forces.
- A regulator could ensure proper acquisition decisions by MoD, MoF, armed forces and Cabinet Committee on Security.

\n

\n\n

\n\n

Source: Business Standard

\n

