National Centre for Polar and Ocean Research

\n\n

\n

- Indian Government has recently renamed National Centre for Antarctic and Ocean Research (NCAOR) as “National Centre for Polar and Ocean Research”.

\n

- NCAOR was formed in 1998 with an objective to conduct expedition to India’s base stations in Antarctica.

\n

- NCAOR is under the Ministry of Earth Sciences.

\n

- The intent behind the name change is to show that government is refocusing its priorities to Arctic.

\n

- It is because of the opportunities and challenges posed by climate change in Arctic.

\n

- Now, India only has one Arctic observation station near Norway.

\n

- India is already an observer at the Arctic Council.

\n

\n\n

Arctic Council

\n\n

\n

- It is a forum of countries that decides on managing the region’s resources and popular livelihood in Arctic region.

\n
