• Similar events - Munich Security Conference and Singapore's Shangri-La Dialogue.

Key Issues that are expected to be discussed in the dialogue are:

- Ukraine Conflict & U.S.-Russia Relations The presence of Ukraine's Foreign Minister Andrii Sybiha and U.S. Director of National Intelligence Tulsi Gabbard signals intense discussions on ceasefire negotiations and shifting global alliances.
- Trump's Foreign Policy Shifts The impact of U.S. President Donald Trump's policies on global trade, NATO relations, and Indo-Pacific strategy will be debated.
- Quad and Indo-Pacific Strategy A high-level panel comprising naval leadership from India, Australia, Japan, and the U.S. will discuss expanding maritime cooperation, reflecting India's commitment to countering Chinese assertiveness.
- Nuclear and Security Concerns International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) chief Rafael Grossi's participation highlights ongoing nuclear non-proliferation challenges, including the Iran nuclear issue.

Notable Trends

- Pakistan's Non-Participation Given ongoing hostilities, Pakistani delegates have been traditionally absent from the Raisina Dialogue, reaffirming India's policy of limited engagement.
- Russia's Reduced Presence The absence of Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov, who previously faced intense scrutiny over the Ukraine war, underscores the shifting diplomatic landscape.
- China's Minimal Representation The inclusion of an academic from Fudan University reflects a cautious but improving engagement following last year's Modi-Xi Jinping meeting.
