

Relaxation in LTCG on Residential Property Sale

Why in news?

\n\n

A proposal was made in 2019 Budget to relax the condition required for saving on long term capital gains (LTCG) made on the sale of a residential property.

\n\n

What is the current norm under Sec 54 of IT Act?

\n\n

\n

- Gain from sale of a residential property (land, house or apartment) within 2 years of its purchase is considered short-term capital gain (STCG).

\n

- After two years, the gain is considered long-term capital gains (LTCG).

\n

- While STCG is taxed at the slab rate, LTCG is taxed at the rate of 20.6% (including cess) with indexation done for property (by applying CII (cost inflation index)).

\n

- So currently, Section 54 of the Income-tax Act, 1961 offers a benefit of rollover of capital gains on sale of property.

\n

- This means that the otherwise taxable proceeds (from sale of property) is allowed to be reinvested (rolled over) within a specified time and with certain preconditions, for exemption from capital gains tax.

\n

- Under this, LTCG arising from the sale of an immovable property is exempt from tax if the profit is reinvested in a single property or other specified instruments, within the stipulated timeline.

\n

- The assessee needs to buy the new property within 1 year before the date of transfer of the property or 2 years after the transfer.

\n

- In case of under-construction properties, the construction needs to be completed within 3 years from the date of transfer.

\n

- However, if the person is unable to stick to these conditions, the amount may be deposited in a public sector bank (or other banks as per the Capital Gains Account Scheme, 1988).

\n

- Also, currently, the above exemption cannot be claimed for properties bought or constructed outside India.

\n

\n\n

What is the relaxation made now?

\n\n

\n

- The benefit of rollover of capital gains under section 54 of the IT Act will be now increased from investment in one residential house to two residential houses.

\n

- This will be applicable for a taxpayer having capital gains up to Rs 2 crore.

\n

- Also, this benefit can be availed only once in a life time.

\n

- So if one spreads out the capital gains in 2 different properties, the next time s/he has LTCG from sale of a house, s/he has to restrict only to one property to avail the benefit.

Quick Facts

\n\n

\n\n

Tax Exemption, Deduction and Rebate

\n\n

\n

- Exemption - While calculating tax liability, certain sources of income that are 'exempt' from tax are reduced from the salary or other income i.e. they are not considered for tax payment.

\n

- E.g. if a person avails House rent allowance (HRA), she can claim tax exemption on that component

\n

- Deduction - Besides, under section 80C, a deduction of Rs 1,50,000 can be claimed from total income, for investments made in LIC, PPF, Mediclaim, incurred towards tuition fees, etc.

\n

- After exemptions and deductions, what remains is the total income on which one pays the tax.

\n

- Rebate - Now, under Section 87A of the IT Act, if the annual income is less than 3 lakh (under the existing provisions), then a person can claim a 'rebate' of up to Rs 2,500.

\n

- Illustration - If a person earns Rs 5 lakh with HRA (House Rent Allowance) of Rs 50,000, after the 'exemption', her income will be 4.5 lakh rupees.

\n

\n\n

\n

- If we assume that under Section 80C, she has taken advantage of 'deduction' of Rs 1.5 lakh, then her total taxable income will be Rs 3 lakh.

\n

- Now as per the tax rate of 5%, she has to pay a tax of Rs 2,500.

\n

\n\n

\n

- But under the tax rebate provision, the person will not have to pay any (Rs. 2500) income tax as the taxable income was Rs 3 lakh.

\n

- So, in effect, tax exemption reduces the total taxable income itself.

\n

- On the other hand, a rebate offers relief in the amount of income tax that one has to pay after the tax calculation is done.
