

Relaxation in LTCG on Residential Property Sale

Why in news?

 $n\n$

A proposal was made in 2019 Budget to relax the condition required for saving on long term capital gains (LTCG) made on the sale of a residential property.

 $n\n$

What is the current norm under Sec 54 of IT Act?

 $n\n$

\n

- Gain from sale of a residential property (land, house or apartment) within 2 years of its purchase is considered short-term capital gain (STCG).
- \bullet After two years, the gain is considered long-term capital gains (LTCG).
- While STCG is taxed at the slab rate, LTCG is taxed at the rate of 20.6% (including cess) with indexation done for property (by applying CII (cost inflation index)).

\n

- So currently, Section 54 of the Income-tax Act, 1961 offers a benefit of rollover of capital gains on sale of property.
- This means that the otherwise taxable proceeds (from sale of property) is allowed to be reinvested (rolled over) within a specified time and with certain preconditions, for exemption from capital gains tax.
- Under this, LTCG arising from the sale of an immovable property is exempt from tax if the profit is reinvested in a single property or other specified instruments, within the stipulated timeline.
- The assessee needs to buy the new property within 1 year before the date of transfer of the property or 2 years after the transfer.
- \bullet In case of under-construction properties, the construction needs to be completed within 3 years from the date of transfer. $\mbox{\sc h}$

 However, if the person is unable to stick to these conditions, the amount may be deposited in a public sector bank (or other banks as per the Capital Gains Account Scheme, 1988).

• Also, currently, the above exemption cannot be claimed for properties bought or constructed outside India.

What is the relaxation made now?

 $n\n$

\n

• The benefit of rollover of capital gains under section 54 of the IT Act will be now increased from investment in one residential house to two residential houses.

\n

- This will be applicable for a taxpayer having capital gains up to Rs 2 crore.
- So if one spreads out the capital gains in 2 different properties, the next time s/he has LTCG from sale of a house, s/he has to restrict only to one property to avail the benefit.

Tax Exemption, Deduction and Rebate

 $n\n$

\n

• Exemption - While calculating tax liability, certain sources of income that are 'exempt' from tax are reduced from the salary or other income i.e. they are not considered for tax payment.

۱n

• E.g. if a person avails House rent allowance (HRA), she can claim tax exemption on that component

\n

• Deduction - Besides, under section 80C, a deduction of Rs 1,50,000 can be claimed from total income, for investments made in LIC, PPF, Mediclaim, incurred towards tuition fees, etc.

۱n

 After exemptions and deductions, what remains is the total income on which one pays the tax.

\n

• Rebate - Now, under Section 87A of the IT Act, if the annual income is less than 3 lakh (under the existing provisions), then a person can claim a 'rebate' of up to Rs 2,500.

\n

• Illustration - If a person earns Rs 5 lakh with HRA (House Rent Allowance) of Rs 50,000, after the 'exemption', her income will be 4.5 lakh rupees.

 $n\n$

\n

- If we assume that under Section 80C, she has taken advantage of 'deduction' of Rs 1.5 lakh, then her total taxable income will be Rs 3 lakh.
- Now as per the tax rate of 5%, she has to pay a tax of Rs 2,500. \n

 $n\n$

\n

- But under the tax rebate provision, the person will not have to pay any (Rs. 2500) income tax as the taxable income was Rs 3 lakh.
- \bullet So, in effect, tax exemption reduces the total taxable income itself. \n
- \bullet On the other hand, a rebate offers relief in the amount of income tax that one has to pay after the tax calculation is done. \n
