

Special status of J&K

What is the issue?

 $n\n$

Few right wing groups raised concerns that, special status accorded to J&K has prevented its "full integration" into the Indian Union.

How J&K is provided with special status?

 $n\n$

\n

- Part XXI, Article 370 of Indian constitution grants special autonomous status to the state of Jammu and Kashmir.
- This provides Temporary, Transitional and Special Provisions to J&K.
- The State's Constituent Assembly was empowered to recommend the articles of the Indian constitution to be applied to the state or to repeal the Article 370 altogether.

Special status is guaranteed by the Constitution of India through an Act passed by the two-third majority in both houses of the Parliament.

How Art.370 differs from Art.371?

 $n\n$

\n

- Jammu & Kashmir is not the only state for which special provisions have been laid down in the Indian Constitution.
- A wide range of safeguards are available to as many as 11 other states, listed in Articles 371, 371A to 371H, and 371J.
- Initially three states Assam, Nagaland and Jammu & Kashmir were granted special status.

\n

- But since then eight more have been included -Arunachal Pradesh, Himachal Pradesh, Manipur, Meghalaya, Mizoram, Sikkim, Tripura and Uttarakhand.
- Art 371I deals with Goa, but does not include any provision that can be termed 'special'.
- One important difference between Articles 370 and 371, and Articles 371A-H and 371J, is that while the latter set of provisions were incorporated into the Constitution by Parliament through amendments under Art 368.

How J&K provisions are different from other states?

 $n\n$

\n

• The special provisions laid down in Art 371, 371A-H, and 371J are not as far reaching as Art 370.

۱r

 \bullet The "special privileges" available to J&K, the only Muslim-majority state in the country.

\n

- There is a ban on non-residents from acquiring property in the state and voting in the legislative Assembly elections.
- Both of which are under challenge in the Supreme Court in a case against the constitutional validity of Article 35A.
- Art 35A, which empowered the J&K Constitution to define "permanent residents" of the state, is an offshoot of Art 370 of the Indian Constitution.
- It was added to the Constitution through The Constitution (Application to Jammu and Kashmir) Order, 1954, issued by the President under Art 370. \n
