Why in News?

Arunachal Pradesh Chief Minister said the Sunrise Festival in Anjaw holds immense potential not only for the border district but for Arunachal Pradesh as a whole.

- It is the first-ever New Year festival in Arunachal Pradesh (2026) built around the unique experience of witnessing India's earliest sunrise.
- Theme – "First to Rise, First to Celebrate" – India's first sunrise of the year.
- Location – _Dong_, Anjaw district, near the tri-junction of India, China, and Myanmar.
- Unique Feature of Dong – It is India's easternmost village and the first place in India to witness the earliest sunrise each year.
- Geographic significance – Dong is nestled near the meeting point of the Lohit River and the Himalayan foothills, known as one of the most offbeat destinations in the country.
- Duration – It is a 5-day festival that begins on December 29, 2025, and concludes on January 2, 2026.
- Signature Event – "Alo Prabhat – Dance of the Dawn", a performance drawn from the cultural traits of the indigenous _Meyor and Mishmi communities._
- Cultural Highlights –
  - Cultural Performances – Meyor and Mishmi tribes showcased traditional dances and songs.
  - Spiritual Emphasis – The festival highlights harmony with nature and reverence for the sun.
  - Community Gathering – It brings together travellers, locals, and artists to celebrate heritage and new beginnings.
  - Experiential Activities – Includes village walks, storytelling, music, art residencies, and cultural interactions with the Meyor tribe.
- Significance – This festival represents a significant initiative to position _Arunachal Pradesh as a global_ destination for nature, culture, adventure, heritage and sun-led New Year celebrations to boost eco-tourism.
