Q:- While governments, institutions and civil societies work for citizen's rights, inherent duties remain crucial for individuals in order to ensure the efficiency of the administrative system. Comment. (200 words)

Our Indian Constitution Part III (Fundamental Rights) and Part IV A (Fundamental duties) are actually the two sides of same coin. In every ^{where} schools, homes, workplaces or Courts - 'rights' have taken up more space than 'duties'. Many of our constitutional members devote the rights are co-relate to some duties.

Apart from governments, NBO's, Social institu-^{tion} etc., for their works on demanding citizen rights. It is the moral duty of citizens to introduce and enhance a positive 'work consciousness' and reject the tendency to find loopholes in rules and laws in order to suit convenience.

CITIZENS NEED TO FULFIL THEIR DUTIES:-

1. Citizens have right to get better roads, infrastructure and better travelling facilities
 - 1.1 But following traffic rules is their duty.
2. Having basic household amenities like electricity and clean tap water are rights
 - 2.1 ~~But~~ saving and end wastage of electricity and water is duty of all.

3. It is the citizens rights to get clean streets, but it is the duty of them to stop throwing garbage on roads.

4. Citizens are entitled to get better health and healthcare facilities, but it is duty of the individuals to act towards Swachhita and Vaccination.

5. It is indeed the right of the people to get pollution-free and natural Calamity-free ecosystem.

5.1 But for that to happen, Voluntary Citizen Service is required for planting trees, cleaning river ~~and~~, following norms of government in building infrastructure ~~etc~~ and pollution free measures along with requisite government efforts.

6. India is the largest democratic country in the world. Citizen have right to vote, but Casting the Vote is their duty.

For the New India and its target of journey to $5 trillion strong economy. It also brings responsibilities on ourselves to act dutifully towards adopting a lifestyle that helps the nation. The perfect balance between the rights and duties by citizens is the order to achieve local and national development goals in the administrative system.
