

12/11/2020

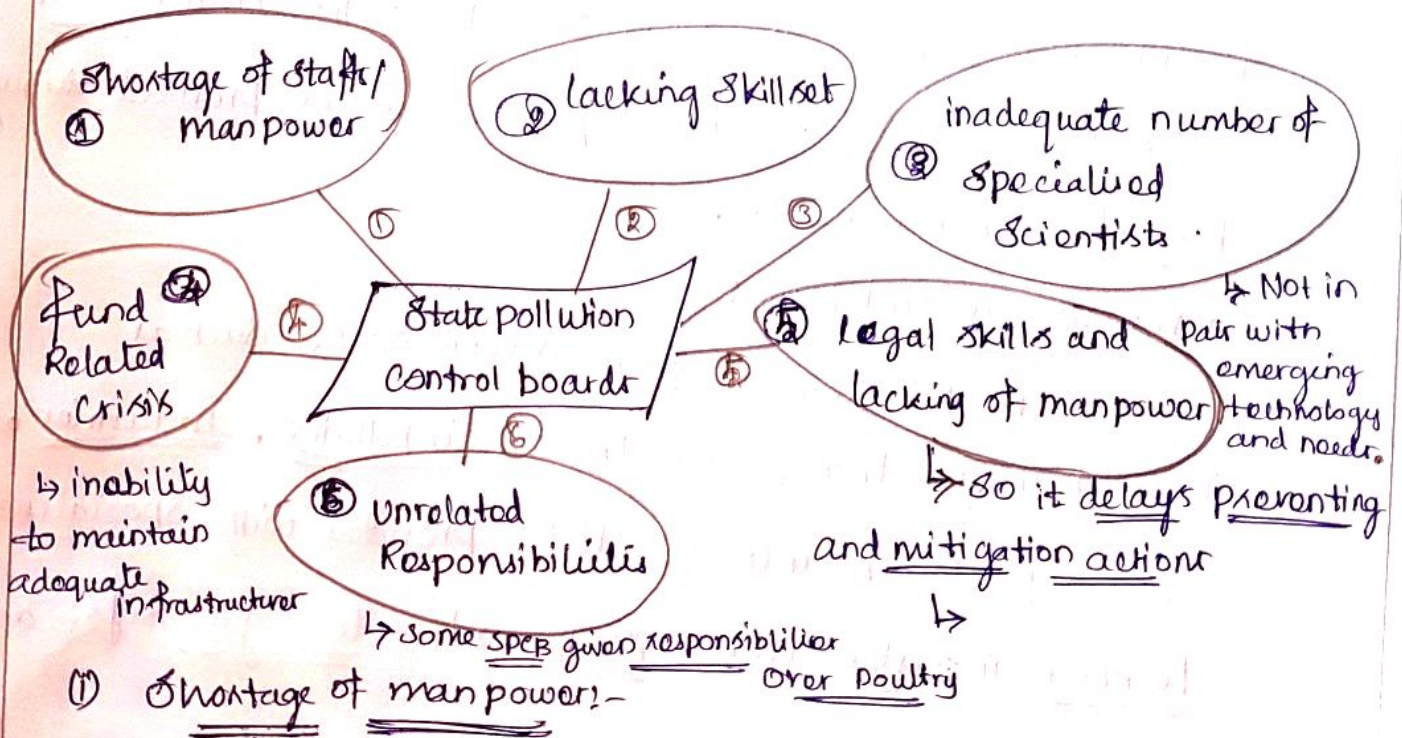

①

Central governments needs to empower State pollution Control boards to handle the problem of air Pollution in the country Explain (200w).

The State pollution control boards are being provided by technical assistances and guidances by central pollution control boards.

By considering India's vast and diverse topography and newly emerging pollution related problems its need of the hour to bolster and enhance the system in grass root levels.

Issues and grievances needed to be addressed in SPEBs:-

In addition with planning and advising State pollution Control boards members has to visit the field of concern and investigate and work to cut the pollutions. They have been provided with the responsibility of creating awareness on stubble