Social media is becoming a new medium for diplomacy.
Do you agree. comment.

Social media penetration is on the rise everyday. It has created itself as the new arena of diplomacy.

Social media diplomacy

According to Tuiploamary 971 of UN member states had an official twitter handle.

The usage of twitter in foreign policy is increasing in India.

It helps as easy source of reporting where diplomats and media access were limited. It acts as tool for communication for negotiating parties. many fugitives were extradited to India with the use of social media.

It can travel further and faster gets its adoption as regional languages - foreign ministers' tweets as non Hindi languages as increasing steadily.

The social media route breaks the walls of foreign and consular activities which were concealed. The information received during Operation George ~~was using~~ social media is commendable.

Barriers - The twitter usership is around 24 million in India and, foreign policy decisions are not broadcasted on radio unlike man ki Baath -

The social media medium itself gain further momentum and could bring masses into the blanket of foreign policy
