

1. India's presidency in G20 can provide support to the developing world holistically, especially in South Asian Region. Explain.

Prime minister Modi recently unveiled the logo for G20 calling for 'one earth, one family, one future'. A Lotus with 7 petals representing seven continents and oceans holding the earth, shows India's commitment to overcome geographical limitations and ensure none is left behind, during its presidency.

India's support to the developing world.

India's South-South cooperation is already evident through its vaccine supply. over 250 million vaccines supplied to 101 countries.

Supply chain Resilience

India has been vocal in highlighting the effects of geopolitical tensions (eg: Ukraine war) on developing countries. with stagflation in Japan, USA and EU. of the global economic outlook seems dull. There is a need for political & consensus on framework for macroeconomic stability & trade.

Eg: 2021. prime minister Modi in a meeting on 'global supply chain resilience' called for '3' aspects

}	trusted source	} to overcome supply chain risks
	transparency
	time frame

Digital Transformation

India has been many successful models like Direct benefit transfer, Aardhaar, Unified payment Interface in welfare Schemes. Platforms can be improved thru, by Interoperability, where.

private can innovate on public platforms - enhancing global public goods and achieve sustainable development goals

Climate & climate finance

At COP26 India introduced 'LiFE' approach - individual effort to tackle climate change and 'Panchamrit' - Showing commitment to climate leader. present COP27, India must push, more focus on climate finance from Advanced economies ($100 bn - till 2025)

Energy diversification

clean energy partnership with US, EU, Japan in areas of solar, wind etc.

Enhance Energy trade in Green hydrogen, Green ammonia
Framework for civil nuclear energy - to enhance clean energy mechanism

Ocean sustainability

India's - SAGAR (Sustainability & And Growth in the Region)
Promoting 'blue oceans', 'clean oceans'. can be leveraged for ocean sustainability.

Way forward

India must focus more on vulnerable in especially in South Asian region. to increase South Asian cooperation. Inspire hope and impose value based future overcoming challenges