Restoring Scientific temper in Indian Society is essential to counter the Social Violence that has become so widespread in recent times. Analyse.

As per the Constitution of India it is the fundamental duty of the citizen to develop a Scientific temper, reasoning. It is related to a rational and logical thinking of an individual and this attitude employs argument and reasoning in day to day life. A person with Scientific temper will cross verify the Social Media rumors with actual facts before acting on the same.

Some superstition continue because of social norms and family practices. However such practices become a problem only when it harm us or others like Sati, animal and human sacrifice, etc.. which must be prohibited.

To realise the consequence of any superstition there is a need for self-analysis, self-realisation and awareness. It is the Scientific temper and spirit of inquiry our Constitution framers conceived.

Hence if the spirit of enquiry can be developed through social, educational and personal practices then superstition can be
